IRINA SHAYK

Irina Shayk (born on 6 January 1986) in Yemanzhelinsk, Russian SFSR, Soviet Union. She is a Russian model. Shayk received global recognition when she appeared as the first Russian model on the cover of the 2011 Sports Illustrated Swimsuit Issue. Models.com ranks her as an "Industry Icon".

Irina, the daughter of a Muslim father Valery Shaykhislamov, a coal miner, who is half-Russian half-Volga Tatar, and Olga, a Russian Orthodox Christian mother who converted to Islam because of marriage, a kindergarten music teacher. She has an older sister named Tatiana Petenkova.

After high school, Shayk studied marketing. However, later instead entered beauty school with her older sister. While there, a person from a local modeling agency who was touched by her beauty noticed her. She took part in the "Miss Chelyabinsk 2004" beauty contest, which she won.

Shayk won the Glamour Spain Awards for Best International Model of 2010. In 2011, she won the Marie Claire Prix de la Moda Awards for Marie Claire's Model of The Year. She also won the Glamour Women of the Year Awards for Women of The Year in 2014.

TAYLOR HILL

Taylor Marie Hill (born March 5, 1996) is an American model. A former Victoria's Secret Angel, she appeared in the brand's annual fashion show from 2014 to 2018. She has worked for brands including Ralph Lauren, Michael Kors, and Carolina Herrera. She has also appeared in magazines such as Vogue, Elle, and Harper's Bazaar.

Hill was born in Palatine, Illinois, and raised in Arvada, Colorado. Beginning at an early age, she was a gymnast, before becoming a model. She has three siblings: sisters Logan Rae and Mackinley, and a brother Chase. Mackinley and Chase are also models. She graduated from Pomona High School in Arvada at the age of 16.

In 2014 she modeled for H&M[9] and walked the Victoria's Secret Fashion Show for the first time, the youngest model on their rotation at the age of 18. That year she became the face of Rosa Cha.

She was voted "2015's Most Promising Model" by CoutureSque's readers. In 2015, she hosted an event for Victoria's Secret PINK.[13] That same year she became a Victoria's Secret Angel. Also she advertised Versus Versace.

BELLA HADID

Isabella Khair Hadid was born on October 9, 1996, in Washington, D.C. Hadid's father, Mohamed Hadid, is an architect and real estate developer. Her mother, Yolanda Hadid, is a former model who starred on The Real Housewives of Beverly Hills. Hadid grew up with an older sister, Gigi, and a younger brother, Anwar, both of whom are also models. In addition, Hadid has two older half-sisters, Alana and Marielle, from a past relationship of her father's.

After high school, Hadid left California to study photography at the Parsons School of Design in New York City. At the time, her sister Gigi was already a successful model. Hadid was modeling herself and soon came to believe she was "learning more with photographers on set than I was in school." She opted to leave school to focus on this career. In 2015, she made her runway debut for Tom Ford at New York City's Fashion Week.

In 2021, Hadid returned to a revamped Victoria's Secret as part of its VS Collective. She said she made the decision because she felt the company was "moving forward with not only body diversity, but diversity of women in general."

ANOK YAI

After being discovered at a university homecoming party, Anok Yai became the first black model to open a Prada show since Naomi Campbell in 1997, and has appeared in various of the brand's campaigns, fast becoming one of the new faces to watch.

Born in Egypt of Sudanese descent, Yai's family moved to Manchester, New Hampshire when she was two. She graduated from Manchester High School West and attended Plymouth State University, majoring in biochemistry. During Howard University's homecoming week, Yai was shot by a professional photographer, whose Instagram photo quickly went viral, garnering over 20,000 likes in 24 hours. Yai caught the attention of agencies including IMG, but ultimately signed with Next Models worldwide.

In February 2018 she became the first Sudanese model, and second black model after Naomi Campbell in 1997, to open the Prada runway show. Since then, Yai has appeared in a number of campaigns for the brand, as well as a campaign for Nike's collaboration with Givenchy's former creative director Riccardo Tisci .
